Three Gleichen Bucking Horses Bring $2000

Fox Brought $1500, Ray $300 Domino $200

Fox Sold for $1000 More Than any Outlaw Known

After the Wetaskiwin stampede Walter McHugh closed out a deal whereby the famous bucking horses Fox and Ray, along with Domino, became the property of the Pendleton Round-Up Association. The amount of cash involved constitutes a new record for "outlaw" horse flesh. Fox sold for $1500, Ray brought $300 and Domino $200. The exchange or premium on the American draft is a nice sum itself.

Here is a record of the horses. "Domino", also known as "Shooting Star".

Bred by F. A. McHugh, of H2 ranch, Gleichen.

Owned by the F. A. McHugh estate.

Sold to the Pendleton Round-Up Association for $200.

A very good bucking horse, but sometimes spasmodic in his efforts. He bucks a lot like "Cyclone", the hero horse at the Calgary stampede in 1912, which Tom Three Persons rode for the world's title. At Calgary this year Domino, disqualified four men out of four riders up on him.

"Ray", also known as "Polo Pony".

Bred by High River Tading Co.

Second owner A. R. Bond of the Gleichen district, who developed this horse, winning the championship in 1914 and 1915 as the hardest bucking horse in the Northwest at the Gleichen stampedes.

Purchased in 1916 by Alex and Walter McHugh from the Bond estate for $200.

Sold to the Pendleton Round-Up Association for $300.

Ray split with Fox for first and second bucking horse money at the Moose Jaw and Shaunavon Stampedes in 1916.

At Bond's ranch and at the home town, Gleichen, Ray has always outbucked any horses there. When shipped away he does not buck consistently, owing to nervousness developed by shipping, with the exception of 1918, when Ray and Fox both went through the season without being ridden. The absence of nearly all the cowboys overseas that year made the field easier for the horses.

Lee Caldwell of Pendleton, Oregon won the championship of Canada on Ray at Moose Jaw in 1916, and Emery Le Grande, holder of the world's broncho bucking championship, took second prize on Fox, this being the only time any rider ever won money on Fox in saddle riding. Lou Engstrom, who was killed in France, won second money in the bareback circling bucking contest on Fox at the Gleichen stampede in 1915.

"Fox", also known as "Reservation" and "I Don't Know".

Bred in Gleichen district.

Owned by Walter McHugh.

Sold to the Pendleton Round-Up Association for $1500, bringing $1000 more than the highest known price paid for an outlaw horse. Won the world's championship for the hardest bucking horse at New York city in 1916 at the big stampede staged at Sheepshead Bay Speedway, and successfully defended his title at

Musical Eckards Here Wednesday, Oct. 1st

The Musical Eckards, who were announced in last week's issue to appear here on Sept. 23 have changed their booking and are now billed to play Gleichen on Wednesday, Oct. 1st.

The Eckards have engaged three men performers since their last visit here. The De Buhl Trio, a family of three clever children, presenting popular and comic songs, impersonations, reading and character sketches.

T. Eckardt, father of the organization and a veteran in the entertainment business, is still personally in charge of the company and has added several new features to the musical part of the program.

Calgary in 1919. He has had eleven riders stay on his back, making qualified rides, and has thrown or disqualified between 155 and 160 riders, among them being every rider of note in the world today. He has had at least one or more victories over every top rider.

He is recognized by old and present-day cowboys as greatest bucking horse of all time. He has lots of common or horse sense, using his head at all times—like Christy Matheson he out-generals his opponents. He takes the best care of himself. Never frets or worries, or gets excited; is gentle to handle, does not bite, strike or kick, and is easily shot or curried. In all his outlawry he has never seriously injured a cowboy.

This showed itself in Calgary when after being thrown in the fourth jump Yakima Canutt of C50-fax, Washington, remained hung by the stirrup for five jumps, Fox seeing he did not fall suddenly developed a bucking spin to the right, holding the rider, who was caught by the foot, at full length in mid-air until his foot gave way, allowing him to fall. That evening, after winning the world's championship for broncho busting, Yakima Canutt and wife visited Fox at the stable and putting his arm around Fox's neck said:

"Good old Fox. You had a good chance to kill me, but you didn't. It's a good thing it was not any of the other bucking horses. It is no disgrace to be thrown by you. I love you—all the boys do. Long life and good luck to you!"

A. P. Day, the leading authority on cowboy sports, says, "Fox uses more headwork than any horse I ever saw in action. He is a marvel. There is no human being living can scratch this horse contest rules."

No rider has ever won first money on Fox. At New York in the extra ride of the finals, to determine for certain the champion broncho buster Fox threw Floyd Irwin of Cheyenne, Wyo. (This boy was since killed in steer roping at his home town.) The championship going to Emery LeGrand on Chas Irwin's horse "I be Damned", which horse won third prize for bucking horse money at Calgary this year and being the horse on which Yakima Canutt won the world's championship for broncho busting and the $1000 prize.

Pendleton Roundup Association never hire out their stock. These horses will only be seen at Pendleton Roundup which is a three day contest and is held yearly. This being the eleventh year.

First Friday in each month—the Town Council meets.

Gleichen Breaks World's Flying Record

Monday was a great day in Gleichen for young and old. At 8:20 that morning Capt. McCall and his assistant, Mr. Lea, arrived over town with his airplane, having covered the distance from Calgary in 35 minutes, beside having stopped to chase wild geese and duck at Stobart lake, securing photos of the bewildered geese at seeing such a monster bird after them.

After circling the town the aircraft landed in Chris. Bartsch's stubble field just north of town, and there was a rush of children and autos in that direction. This landing, however, did not suit the aviator and spent considerable time looking for a better location, finally choosing a stubble field over a mile northeast of town on James Young's farm. Here, soon a good crowd gathered and with only a short stop for luncheon the Captain was kept busy taking up passengers until after six that night, when a start was made again for Calgary.

Captain McCall's previous record for taking up passengers was badly broken at Gleichen he admitted. At Nanton he took up 25 passengers and starting at Gleichen the weather was so perfect he said he hoped to break the record by at least one, but before he got away no less than 38 persons had traversed the sky with him, which he said he believed broke the world's record for one machine taking up passengers in one day. Naturally he was greatly pleased and characterized Gleichen as the best sporting town he had ever visited. As there were still a number more ready to go up the captain promised to return at an early date.

Financially they certainly made a great success of their visit here, deriving from each $15, or $510. On two trips two boys were taken up at one time.

Below is a list of those who were passengers Monday:

J. Walls, D. Gillespie, S. Lyon, A. Holly, Fred Williams, Beatty, Douglas L. James, T. C. B. Williams, Harold Dunn, T. A. Phelon, T. H. Beach, Mrs. Hoey, B. V. Bennett, Mrs. Hardwick, A. G. McCaullough, Miss S. Hansen, Louis Bartsch, H. Lee, Mrs. Wisbart, Mrs. Read, W. N. W. McMillan, D. L. McLeod, M. Bollinger, Miss M. Koefoed, Mrs. Young, M. B. Russell, W. G. Gourley, P. Arneary, Leroy Koefoed, Miss P. Williams, C. A. Telford, L. A. Pifer, James Young, Miss B. McMillan, Johnny Wall and three of James Young's boys.

"I have worked four days in the three weeks. To — with threshing!" Said a fine looking young fellow last Friday. One can hardly find fault with any energetic man for expressing himself in such a manner, even though it is an exceptional case. And then to have others complain because he works on Sunday is surely "rubbing it in" as he said. All agree that Sunday or at least one day a week should be kept as a day of rest, but it would seem that the care of grain at this particular time is as important as the care of an animal that meets with an accident. Not only may the saving of grain now be the saving of dollars, but it may mean saving from starvation human beings in distant lands. There is reason in the arguments of the farmer and the workman on this subject, that broad-minded people admit.

WEDDING BELLS

BURNE-LEE

The wedding of Rev. Joseph Lee, pastor of Victoria Methodist church Calgary, to Miss Adelaide Victoria Burn, of Gleichen, took place Wednesday, Sept. 17th, at 8 p.m., in the union Church, Gleichen. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss C. A. Burne, and the groom was supported by Mr. J. E. Love of Calgary. The bride was dressed in white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was also attired in white. The church, where the ceremony took place, was built during the student-pastorate of the groom and was beautifully decorated with flowers. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. R. Berry of Calgary, assisted by Rev. R. N. Matheson, pastor of the church. Mrs. McLeod presided at the organ. Following the marriage service the large number of guests repaired to the home of Mr. R. J. Burne, brother of the bride, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The happy couple left on the early morning train for a short honeymoon at Banff before taking up their residence in Calgary where Mr. Lee has a host of friends.

HOUSE-OLESON

A quiet wedding took place at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, September 14th, at Arrow Wood Creek, when Miss Mamie Edy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. ## Old Folks Need Mild Bowel Tonic

And Should Avoid the Use of Harsh Pills and Drastic Purgatives

Old people, no matter how sound and healthy, should avoid cathartic pills, purgative water, salts and all such temporary relief measures. Thousands of people, old and young, prevent and cure habitual constipation by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills, a mild yet active medicine that is noted for its promptness in curing headaches, belching gas, sourness in the stomach, fulness after meals, liver soreness and muddy complexion. You'll have the best of health, feel good, eat well, digest and sleep well if you regulate the system by Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box at all dealers.

THE COW PUNCHER

BY ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Copyrighted, Canada, 1918, By The Musson Book Co., Ltd., Toronto. Printed By Special Arrangement.

This was bad enough, but when the speaker went on to say that this was God's plan; that there had to be a sacrifice, and that no other sacrifice was sufficient to appease the wrath of Jehovah directed toward those whom He had created, Dave found himself boiling with indignation. If this was Christianity he would have none of it. His instruction in religion had been of the most meagre nature, but he had imbibed some conception of a Father who was love, and this doctrine of the sacrifice of the innocent crashed through all his slender framework of belief. Had he been told of a love which remained steadfast to its ideals even at the cost of Calvary, his manliness would have responded as to the touch of a kindred spirit, but the attempt to fit that willing sacrifice into a dogmatic creed left him adrift and rudderless. Suddenly from somewhere in his memory came the words, "Then what becomes of the justice of God?" It was Reenie Hardy who had asked that question. And he recalled his answer, "I don't know nothin' about the justice of God. All I know is the critter 'at can't run gets caught." Was he then in sympathy with this doctrine of cruelty without knowing it? No. No! Reenie Hardy had believed in justice and he would believe in the same. He rose from his seat and walked down the aisle and out of the building, oblivious to the eyes that followed him.

His feet led him to the river, running brown with the mud of spring. He sat on the gravel, in the warm sunshine, and tossed pebbles into the swift-flowing water. . . . He had determined on a new road, but how was he to find the road? Environment had never been kind to him, and he was just beginning to realize its power in shaping his destinies. He was dissatisfied, but he did not know where to find satisfaction; he was bewildered, and nowhere was a clear path before him. He was lonely. He knew a room where a little game would be in progress; he arose, brushed the gravel dust from his Sunday clothes, and wended his way down town.

A crowd was entering the theatre which he had attended the night before. He looked at it wonderingly, as by statute the theatres were closed on Sundays. Still, it was evident something was going on, and he went in with the others. No tickets were required, and an usher showed him to a good seat.

It was not long before Dave realized that he was in a Socialist meeting. He knew rather less of Socialism than he did of Christianity, but the atmosphere of the place appealed to him. They were mostly men in working clothes, with tobacco or beer on their breaths, and in their loud whisperings he caught familiar profanities which made him feel, at home. When the speaker said something to their liking, they applauded him, when he crossed them they denounced him openly. Interruptions were frequent, and sometimes violent, but Dave admired the spirit of fair-play which gave every man a chance to speak his mind. Through it all he gathered that there were two great forces in the world, Capital and Labor, and that Capital was a selfish monster, with a strangle-hold on Labor, and choking him to death. No, not quite to death, either, for Capital needed Labor, and therefore only choked him until he was half dead. Also there were two classes of people in the world, the Masters and the Slaves. Dave was a Slave. He had never known it before, but the speaker made it quite apparent.

"But I'm not a slave," said Dave, suddenly springing to his feet. "I can quit my job tomorrow, and tell my boss to go to hell."

There were boos and cat-calls, but at last the man on the platform made himself heard.

"And what will you do, my friend, after you have quit your job?" he asked, quite courteously.

"Get another one," said Dave, without scenting the trap. "There's lots of jobs."

"That is, you would get another master," said the Socialist. "You would still have a master. And as long as you have a master, you are a slave." And Dave sat down, confused and wondering.

After the main address there was a sort of free-for-all. Half a dozen sprang to their feet, each seeking to out-talk his neighbor, and it was with difficulty the chairman obtained order and established a sequence of events. An old man in the gallery read loudly from Victor Hugo while a speaker in the orchestra declaimed on Single Tax. Finally the old man was silenced, and Dave began to learn that all the economic diseases to which society is heir might be healed by a potion compounded by Henry George. Another in the audience started to speak of the failure of the established system of marriage, embellishing his argument with more than one local incident of a salacious nature, but he was at last required to give place to a woman who had a more personal grievance to present.

"You talk about your masters and your slaves, and your taxes and your marriages," she cried in a shrill voice that penetrated every corner of the building. "I can tell you something about masters and slaves. I'm hearing everywhere what this country wants is population; that is the talk of the politician, and the learned men, that are supposed to know. Now, what is the country doing for those that bring the population—not from the slums of Europe, that is not what I'm asking—but for those that bring the native-born population—the only population that doesn't have to be naturalized? I'm the mother of six, and what has the country done for me but leave me at the mercy of those who charge more for an hour's attendance than any old man can save from a month's drunkenness? And then, with my health broken down—in the service of the State—I have to go to the hospital, and they tell me I must have an operation, and I wake up with a horrid pain and a bill for a hundred and fifty dollars. All done in an hour, or less, and that's the bill, or part of it, for the hospital dues and the extras and etceteras are still to come. Masters and slaves! More than I can save in a year, or two years, and no one to say whether it will do or not. When my kitchen pipes are plugged a plumber fixes them and charges me a dollar, and if he doesn't do it right he has to do it over, again, but when the human pipes go wrong the plumber charges a hundred and fifty dollars, and if he doesn't do it right he collects just the same, and the under-estimates another hundred. Now I don't know whether this comes under the head of Capital or Labor or Single Tax, but I do know it is outrageous extortion—extortion of blood money, imposed by the wealthy and prosperous on the poor and the sick and the unfortunate, and while the State clamors for population it does not raise a finger to protect those who are bringing the native-born."

During this philippic Dave had turned toward the woman; her thin face still wore marks of refinement, and even his uncultured ear recognized a use of English that indicated a fair degree of education. But she was broken; crushed with the joint cares of motherhood and poverty, and cooperate at the injustice of a system that capitalized her sacrifices. He had heard much talk of slaves, but here, he felt, he saw one, not in the healthy, well-fed men with their deep mutterings against employers, but in this haggard woman from whose life the lamp of joy had gone out in the bitterness of suffering and physical exhaustion.

He spent the rest of the day alone, thinking. He was not yet sure of any road, but he knew that his mind had been made to think, and that his life was bigger that night than it had been in the morning. . . . He found the right road at once, but he could at least leave the old one. He felt a strange hunger to understand all that had been said. He felt, also, a tremendous sense of his own ignorance; tremendous, but not crushing; a realization that the world was full of things to be learned; problems to be faced; conclusions to be studied out, and underneath was a sense almost of exaltation that he should take some part in the studies and perhaps aid in the solutions. It was his first glimpse into the world of reason, and it charmed and invited him. He would follow.

He went early to bed, thinking over all he had heard. His mind was full, but it was happy, and, in some strange way, fixed. Even the morning service came back with a sense of worthwhileness as he recalled it in the semiconsciousness of approaching sleep. . . . The music had been good. It had been a good of spring and the deep woods . . . and water . . . and wood smoke. It was about a far-away land . . . and Reenie Hardy. She was very like Reenie Hardy. . . .

CHAPTER SEVEN

Fortunate fate, or whatever god angel it is that sometimes drops unexpected favors, designed that young Elden should the following day deliver coal at the home of Mr. Melvin Duncan. Mr. Duncan, tall, quiet, forty-five was at work in his garden as Dave turned the team in the lane and backed them up the long, narrow drive connecting with the family coal-chute. As the heavy wagon moved straight to its objective Mr. Duncan looked on with approval that heightened into admiration. Dave shovelled his load without remark, but as he stood for a moment at the finish wiping the sweat from his coal-grimed face Mr. Duncan engaged him in conversation.

"You handle a team like you were born to it," he said. "Where did you get the knack?"

"Well, I came up on a ranch," said Dave. "I've lived with horses ever since I could remember."

"You're a rancher, eh?" queried the older man. "Well, there's nothing like the range and the open country. If I could handle horses like you there isn't anything would hold me in town."

"Oh, I don't know," Dave answered. "You get mighty sick of it."

"Did you get sick of it?" Elden shot a keen glance at him. The conversation was becoming personal. Yet there was in Mr. Duncan's manner a certain kindness, a certain appeal of sincere personality, that disarmed suspicion.

"Yes, I got sick of it," he said. "I lived on that ranch eighteen years, and never was inside school or church. Wouldn't that make you sick? . . . So I beat it for town."

"And I suppose you are attending church regularly now, and night school, too?"

Dave's quick temper fired up in resentment, but again the kindness of the man's manner disarmed him. He was silent for a moment, and then he said, "No, I ain't. That's what make me sick now. I came in here intendin' to get an education, an' I've never even got a start at it, except for some things perhaps wasn't worth the money. There always seems to be somethin' else—in ahead."

"There always will be," said Mr. Duncan, "until you start."

"I suppose so," said Dave, wearily, and took up the reins.

But Mr. Duncan persisted. "You're not in such a hurry with that team," he said. "Even if you are late—" even if you should lose your job over it—that's nothing to settling this matter of getting started with an education."

"But how's it to be done?" Dave questioned, with returning interest. "Schools and books cost money, an' I never save a dollar."

"And never will," said Mr. Duncan, "until you start. But I think I see a plan that might help, and if it appeals to you it will also be a great convenience to me. My wife likes to go driving Sundays, and sometimes on week-day evenings, but I have so many things on hand I find it hard to get out with her. My daughter used to drive, but these new-fangled automobiles are turning the world upside down—and many a buggy with it. They're just numerous enough to be dangerous. If there were more or less they would be all right, but just now every horse is suspicious of them. Well—as I saw you driving in here, I said to myself, 'There's the man for that job of mine, if I can get him,' but I'm not rich, and I couldn't pay you regular wages. But if I could square the account by helping with your studies a couple of nights a week—I used to teach school, and haven't altogether forgotten—why, that would be just what I want. What do you say?" (To Be Continued.)

The King And His Servants

Servants Were Guests of the King and Queen at a Garden Party

The servants of the royal household and their wives and families were the guests of the King and Queen at a garden party in Buckingham Palace on a recent afternoon.

The party was a "strictly private" one. The palace police and their families were invited, as well as all the workers in and about the royal residence.

The band of the Royal Horse Guards played during the afternoon, and there were performances also by the Southern Syncope Orchestra from the Philharmonic Hall and a negro jazz band. The jazz band played in the amphitheatre formed by the bed of the palace lake, which was drained early in the war to hamper the operations of enemy airmen. Tea was served in great marquees.

The royal family joined their guests in the grounds immediately after tea and remained till the end of the programme, which included a Punch and Judy show for the little ones. This was enjoyed as much by the grown-ups as by the children. The King and Queen laughed as heartily as the youngest of their guests.

Princess Mary joined in the dancing of the children. The entertainment was timed to last from 4 till 6.30 p.m., but the youngsters were so happy that the time was extended by nearly an hour. The King and Queen chatted with all.

The Need for Thrift

At the bottom of the solution of the cost of living problem is willingness to work in the production of essential things; to go without for a time, if needs be, the unessential ones. A great deal would be accomplished if every individual would take counsel with himself, as he would do if we were still at war, as to whether he is contributing his share to production. Perhaps this is too much to expect, human nature being what it is. But, however much we may theorize, and however far we may seek for the remedy in the nostrums of economic quacks, we shall get no necessary article more cheaply until we have produced more.

Java's World Trade Jumps

Salt Lake City, Utah.—Java's world trade has jumped from $4,000,000 annually before the war to $80,000,000 a year, according to J. A. Barkley, industrial expert of Java, who is visiting the trade centres in the United States, and who is a visitor here. He said that Java was not affected with the high cost of living, certain women laborers receiving only 10 cents a day and being able to "get along" on such a sum.

Grasshopper Eggs In Sod Land

Are But Half an Inch Below the Surface

Different kinds of grasshoppers have different habits. Thus the Lesser Migratory Locust deposits its eggs, largely, in stubble fields or in moderately soft situations elsewhere. It chooses, too, the small openings surrounded by herbage and seldom lays eggs in the centre of grass clumps. The Pellicled or Clear-winged Locust, on the other hand, avoids the cultivated fields for egg-laying and selects instead the grass lands round about. It also deposits its eggs in the clumps of grass rather than around them.

Of the grass hoppers at present infesting Saskatchewan and Manitoba fully 75 per cent. are of the Pellicled kind and in consequence, the same percentage of eggs are to be found in the sod as compared with those in the stubble. To plough stubble down deeply is not difficult but to turn sod to the same depth is frequently impossible, and it is, therefore, important that other means be employed for destroying the locust eggs known to be present in large numbers.

Recent experiments conducted at the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Treesbank, Man., have shown that locust eggs cannot survive exposure to the sun for more than a few days, even when encased in the usual pod or sack. The question of their destruction is, therefore, simplified, and any method that will expose the egg masses to the sun will destroy them. Thus disking, cultivating or harrowing will all be useful means of killing eggs, and we are strongly urging every farmer to employ one of these methods on all the dryer sodded areas of his farm or roadside. The eggs are but half an inch below the surface, and can, therefore, be easily exposed. They will be wherever the hoppers were in July and August.—C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist.

What About The Peace Palace

League of Nations Appears to Have Forgotten The Hague

People in Holland, as well as elsewhere, are wondering what is going to become of the Carnegie Peace Palace at The Hague, a bit of property which seems rather oddly to have escaped consideration in the discussions at Paris. The League of Nations appears to have forgotten The Hague; at any rate, the covenant makes no mention of the solemn conventions that brought its elaborate peace machinery into existence, and although later the interests most closely involved did their best to have the league established where stood already the Palace of Peace, the league decided on Switzerland, and what is to happen to the palace is food for conversation. It is not quite certain who owns the land on which the palace was built, but if it is the Government of Holland, there may eventually be advertised a peace palace for sale or to let. It will be interesting to see how time settles the question, for the palace is not endowed, and if it ceases to fulfill its original use it can hardly be indefinitely kept up in idleness.

May Fly Pacific

Vancouver.—Among the arrivals on the steamship Prinzessin was Captain Eric Donaldson, D.F.C., who has announced that he will essay a trans-Pacific flight by airplane. The flyer intends to "hop off" from San Francisco and fly via the Hawaiian Islands, thence to another island in the southern Pacific, and from there to his home in Australia.

Great Britain's War Forecasts

New Zealand Officer Describes Them As Marvelously Accurate

Wellington, New Zealand.—"New Zealand's brilliant soldier, Brigadier-General Richardson, amazed the members of the New Zealand Club recently when he described how marvelously accurate were the British forecasts in 1912 of the world war."

General Richardson attended secret and confidential lectures given to officers attending the British staff college. They were told that as soon as the Kiel Canal had been deepened Germany would find some pretext for war with France, probably in the autumn of 1914 or in the early spring of 1915. The French army would fall back, also the British army if it was in France, and Paris might be captured by the Germans, but the fall of the capital would not end the war. If Britain were to maintain an army of 1,000,000 men conscription would be necessary.

The lecturer also stated that the German fleet would not seek a decisive combat with the British until it had thinned down the British fleet by mines and submarines. Germany hoped to sink one British ship a week by these agencies, and then to strike, say in 12 months from the declaration of war.

Napoleon Was Offered An Air Service

Campenas Drew Up Plans of Airship to Accommodate 200 Persons

The great progress made in aviation during the last few years recalls the fact that as long ago as in 1796 a Frenchman named Campenas drew up plans, which he laid before Napoleon, for the making of an aerial ship to accommodate 200 persons, and which he claimed could be directed to any point of the compass.

The inventor's letter deserves reproduction: "I myself, will be your pilot. You can thus without any danger hover above the fleets of enemies jealous of our happiness, and thunder against them like a new Jupiter, merely by throwing perpendicular downwards firebrands made of a substance which will kindle only by the contact and percussion at the end of its fall, but which will be impossible to extinguish. Or, perhaps, you will think it more prudent to begin at once by forcing the British Cabinet to capitulate, which you may easily do as you have it your power to set fire to the city of London, or to any of the maritime towns of England." Campenas assured Napoleon his airship could travel from Paris to London, destroy the place, and return to Paris within twenty-four hours.

Napoleon refused to countenance the scheme, however. And it is interesting to note in this regard, that in the early days of the war aeroplanes were used, both by the allies and the enemy, solely for scouting purposes, and pilots of both sides exchanged greetings when they passed each other. It was not until a German pilot shot at a British that each side took to arming their own craft, and battles in the air became inevitable.

Take Shoes From Orphans

Rumanians Requisitioned 71,420 Pairs From Asylum in Budapest

Paris.—Advice of further requisitioning in Hungary by the Rumanian troops of occupation were received by the supreme council of the peace conference. On September 10 the reports stated the Rumanians requisitioned 71,420 pairs of shoes from the orphan asylum in Budapest. Of these the great bulk were shipped to Rumania, only 8,000 pairs being left in the orphanage. The orphanage society expressed the fear that these also would be taken under the guise of military requisitions, leaving the orphans shoeless for the winter. Many other cases of alleged looting were reported to the supreme council.

The Needs of Today

Today we are paying the price of war and its waste. To overcome this we must be over-industrious and practice such frugality as we have never known before. This is true patriotism today. Conservation of food, clothing, shoes—not higher wages to enable us to spend more lavishly—is what this country needs from us. More constructive harmony in all we do and less waste of energy in class hatred will bring results we all long to have established.

More pay for less work and higher prices for inferior goods will in time work great hardships upon the profiteer and his un-economical theories.—New York Outlook.

Beekeeping In Manitoba

Record for Honey Very Far Above Average

The present season has been a good one for Manitoba beekeepers. The month of May was congenial, the summer has seen a continuous succession of honey-laden flowers, and there has been no August frost to spoil the autumn blooms, so that the bees are still adding to their stores.

Mr. R. M. Muckle, of Candeboye, secretary of the Manitoba Beekeepers' Association, reports that some of his hives have given him as high as 280 pounds of honey this year. This, of course, is a very high record, very far above the average. He estimates an average yield for the whole province, however, of at least 80 pounds per colony, which is very satisfactory. Honey is high in price, and beekeepers are able to sell their whole output at an average of around 30 cents per pound. So far the eastern honey of the 1919 crop has not reached the western market, at least in quantity, and there is a keen local demand for much more honey than Manitoba has so far produced.

Butter For Paris

Opportunity for Canada to Sell Forty Tons a Day

Paris will use 80,000 pounds of Canadian butter daily, if Canadians are willing to ship them, according to Philippe Roy, Commissioner-General for Canada in France. Mr. Roy says that samples from Canada have arrived in Paris in good condition after 36 days en route. Before the war France imported most of its butter from Siberia, but now that supply is cut off and will probably not be available for five years.

Plaque For Veterans

Ottawa.—The scroll which, with a memorial plaque, is to be issued by the British government to the next of kin of those who have fallen in the war, will shortly be distributed in Canada by the Department of Militia and Defence. It has been found impossible to issue the plaque at the same time as the scroll, owing to the necessity of building a special factory for its manufacture.

TEETHING TROUBLES

Baby's teething time is a time of worry for most mothers. Baby's little gums become swollen and tender; his bowels get out of order and constipation, colic or even diarrhoea sets in. To make the teething period easy Baby's Own Tablets should be given the little one. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels and keep baby good natured. Concerning them Mrs. Marcel D. LeBlanc, Memmcook, West, N.B., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past six years, and have found them indispensable. To my mind, nothing can equal them in allaying the fever accompanying teething. I would not be without them and can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Indemnity for New Zealand

Ottawa.—The statement attributed to Premier Massey that New Zealand expects to receive £10,000,000 indemnity from Germany is the subject of comment among members, and there is likelihood of questions in the house as to what Canada's share is likely to be. Canada's statement of claims has already been filed but, it is emphasized here, what will be received cannot be estimated until all claims have been filed and the ability of Germany to pay has been determined.

New Altitude Record for America

Dayton, Ohio.—What is believed to be a new two-man airplane altitude record for America was set at McCook aviation field by Major R. W. Schroeder, when he ascended to a height of 29,000 feet.

The world's record is held by Capt. Lang, of the British Royal Air Force, who climbed to a height of 30,500 feet with a passenger.

Winnipeg.—If the Dominion government will not build a 72-mile railway to the rich mines north of The Pas, the Manitoba government will consider the feasibility of constructing a provincial railway. ### Farm Colony For Tubercular Veterans

To Be Established Shortly By the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board

Calgary, Alta.—A new colony for returned soldiers who are tubercular, and who are inclined to try farming, is to be established shortly by the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board in the forest reserve of the southern Alberta foothills.

The selection of some 20 sections of suitable land in the reserve for this purpose will be made within the next week or two. The inspection of a large area from which these 20 sections will be selected is now being made by officials of the Soldiers' Settlement Board of Calgary.

The land upon which these patients will be settled will be selected west of Claresholm, and is ideal for the purpose, which is to place these soldiers who have suffered from the effects of gas or are of tubercular tendencies upon land where the duties and requirements will not be heavy, but where the climate is suitable to their constitutional recuperation.

The farms will not be confined to one particular area, but will be distributed over a large area. The requirements to be fulfilled by those who will be placed on these farms will be light.

The samples were sent to him in round 10-pound cylinders which had been dipped in paraffin and wrapped in ordinary wrapping paper. The cheese was received 34 days after it was mailed, and it is said to have arrived in excellent condition.

LISTEN TO THIS!
SAYS CORNS LIFT

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poisoning are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Australia's Trade With Japan

Sydney, New South Wales.—Japan's exports to Australia have overtaken the imports, and there was a balance of trade in favor of Japan for 1918 to the extent of £1,826,040. This fact was brought under the notice of the New South Wales Government by Mr. J. B. Suttor, their commercial commissioner in the east. Mr. Suttor blamed the restrictions placed on such exportations to Japan as wool for this unfavorable position, and declared that when all restrictions were removed it was highly probable that there would ensue a handsome balance of trade in Australia's favor.

"I can't think, John, where that child got his temper from!" exclaimed the child's mother, when he had been removed screaming from the room. "No one can say it's from me."

"No one," agreed the meek voice behind the evening paper. "For you have certainly still got yours."

Role Played By Maubeuge in War

Checked Advance Of German Army With Powerful Artillery

Paris, France.—The commission appointed to examine the question of the reconstruction of Maubeuge has concluded its task. The last witness, Marshal Joffre, who commanded the French armies at the opening of the war, explained that the insufficiency of the defense at Maubeuge was due to the fact that practically all credits were noted for defensive works in large eastern towns.

Marshal Joffre considered that Maubeuge, notwithstanding its defects, accomplished its role, as by its resistance it checked the advance of an important German army with powerful artillery, and thus contributed to the Marne victory. Maubeuge, which submitted to terrific bombardments, cut a fine figure, he said, beside other strongholds attacked and taken during the war.

Marshal Joffre added that he highly esteemed General Fournier and greatly appreciated his military value.

Austrian Comment On Peace Treaty

Attacks Levelled Principally Against Financial and Economic Clauses

Vienna, Austria.—Commenting on the completed Austrian peace treaty, the Neue Freie Presse says:

"All of the people are to be put on the rack, prompted by the policy of draining our resources. It is the most wicked feat of the twentieth century."

The Tag says: "Might and ignorance have dictated this peace. It has nothing to do with right and justice."

The attacks on the treaty by the newspapers are levelled principally against the financial and economic clauses of the document, especially those having reference to the partition of the pre-war debt.

The Arbeiter Zeitung has characterized the terms as "bitter, spiteful and unjust," adding: "The entente is using its power in the most shameful manner to maltreat and outrage defenceless people with a peace based on might."

The Tageblatt says: "In vain do we search for a sign of justice, regard for our utter incapacity to fulfill or consideration for the fundamental of self-determination for peoples. It adds that the Reparation Commission must begin its work by constituting itself a revision commission."

From all the lumber districts in the province come reports of unusual activity in the lumbering industry. Foreign orders are restricted only by the tonnage available.

The land on this farm has been cropped for 40 years, and a return of this quantity indicates the marvellous soil quality of Portage Plains. The oats sold at Oakland on car at 82 cents per bushel.

Korean Capital Occupied By Japanese Soldiers

Every Part of City Has Been Occupied By Japanese Troops

Tokio.—Since the attempt to assassinate Baron Saito, governor of Korea, at Seoul on September 2, every part of that city has been occupied by Japanese troops and the place is virtually in a state of siege. The would-be assassin is still at large, although a number of persons suspected of being implicated in the plot are under arrest.

The Japanese press takes the view that the bomb outrage was to have been expected, pointing out that it was almost a logical development. It expresses the opinion that the appointment of a naval officer as governor of Korea was probably inopportune and the result of poor judgment, as it only served to inflame the Koreans, who had hoped that a civilian would be named. Takeshi Inukai, leader of the Kokuminto, or national party, takes a similar view. He said that a civilian might have calmed the Koreans, who regard Baron Saito as a man of the sword, like his predecessors.

No Secession For South America Now

Union Must Not Be Torn Apart By Nationalism

Capetown.—Premier Smuts, in a vigorous speech in parliament, has declared that South Africa must remain a part of the empire and that it cannot secede. The union, he stated, must not be torn apart by nationalism.

Strongly urging the acceptance by South Africa of a mandate of South-west Africa, he declared that the German people of Southwest Africa would prefer the union administration to any other. He believed that in the interests of the union and of the native population that the territory should be administered by a union.

Premier Smuts challenged General Hertzog, leader of the Nationalists, to declare whether or not the nationalists no longer insisted on the separate independence of the Transvaal. General Hertzog replied that the Nationalist congress would decide that, whereupon Smuts declared the reply evasive and asserted that South Africa has no right to secede from the empire.

The undertaking is to be formed, owned and managed by negroes and will be established in the negro community centre of the city. A large percentage of the $100,000 capital stock to be used has been paid in, and the stock is to be increased to about $200,000 before the store is opened early in 1920.

A., who profess to represent the views, the aims and the desires of all those who at the call of a world endangered by Prussian militarism, left their civilian callings and volunteered for service with the Empire—when the G. W. V. A., regardless of the financial condition of their country, loudly and insistently demanded that their services freely offered should be recompensed by a gratuity to each soldier, which would run into over $500,000,000, loading down the already overburdened country to the point of national bankruptcy, it is surely time that some of those who have returned but who do not join with the G. W. V. A. in their clamant demand, should make themselves heard.

It is a common, in fact nearly an invariable claim by those who speak for the G. W. V. A., that they represent 500,000 men, who enlisted in the cause of freedom. The claim is unfounded, and only based on the fact that so many men, whether soldiers or civilians, are unwilling to take a decided stand in opposition to what they are assured is a rightful claim, even should they be very doubtful of the validity of the statement.

There are thousands of returned men who, feeling themselves fit to do a man's work in the world, would scorn to depend upon a grateful country for a new start in life. They went to France because duty called them there, and they feel that it is asking a price for their blood, which they willingly laid down on the altar of country. There are many of our best who have not joined the G. W. V. A., and who do not intend to join as long as the association is in the leading of such men as now profess to voice the wishes of such as themselves.

It would be well if a few returned men who do not believe that their country owes them, while still fit to do a man's work in the world, a bonus for doing their bit, would get together and tell their fellow Canadians what they think of the arrogant claims put forward ostensibly in their behalf.

That the widow, the fatherless, the maimed or the physically unfit should be treated by the country upon the most liberal basis all right thinking men will agree, but as to the bonus to able-bodied men, it is a disgrace that such a claim should be put forward. I went across in 1915 with one of our Calgary regiments, served through the whole war, have come back unwounded and fit as I ever was. I have taken a job and hope to make my own way in the world, without accepting charity even from my country, and I know there must be many who feel like me. Let us hear from them. We have been misrepresented too long, until the name of "veteran" is liable to stink in the nostrils of decent thinking people.

This great young western country offers chances to the willing worker, whether with hands or head, which have only to be embraced to give independence, if not wealth, to every one.

WHEN PRUNING TREES

Prevent tearing the bark off the trunk in removing large limbs by first making an "undercut". Make the cuts on a slant. Some trees, like the elm, sycamore, lime, etc., will rot the process of healing back more than others, and the poplar is a tree that must be cut back every few years to keep its crown from becoming too tall and unsightly.

When shortening a branch, leave a few twigs at the end to draw the sap to the freshly cut wound and thus enable the growing layer under the bark to heal it over.

In trimming small branches or shoots, the cut must be made just above a bud.

When several branches come out from the trunk in a whorl, they should not all be cut away at the same time lest the tree be girdled. This arrangement of branches occurs most frequently in the coniferous trees.

COST OF LOG FIRES

Expenses to Lumberman From Carelessness Are Listed

The elements of damage done by fire in the logging woods are, first and foremost, lost time; then, the cash loss by destruction or reduction in the value or efficiency of equipment such as donkeys, loaders, logging line, chutes, railroads, trestles, or camps; last, the value of the product is lowered when logs are damaged.

Take the element of lost time. A fire is usually handled by the railroad section crew. It is not unusual for a five-man crew to work a day on an ordinary fire, leaving one man to watch it for 48 hours afterward. This means $11 in lost time. A larger fire may require a dealer, a camp crew, or the whole camp crew. It is not at all unusual for a part of all of the mill crew to turn out in an emergency. A fire which requires the whole logging crew of an ordinary double head mill will cost the operator, in lost time, about $600 per 16-hour shift. These figures refer to direct labor charges only and do not take into account lost operating time of expensive equipment or the supervisory and overhead charges which are going on while the plant is turning out no product.

If it is expensive to fight fire, why not let them burn? This would be good business if it were not for the fact that it would very probably be still more expensive in damage to equipment. A fire practically never ruins a donkey engine beyond repair, but $500 or $600 damage is a frequent occurrence. Burning the sled out from under a machine, for instance, would mean a loss of about $400, and it will yard no logs for several days. Logging cable is easily damaged, and the loss of the line on one machine—say, 1,300 feet of yarding line and 3,000 feet of back line—costs $375. Repairing a line burned in two may be put down at $5 per splice.

One of the most important events of the past year was the sympathetic understanding which was reached between farmers and manufacturers. In discussing this, Canadian Farm, a weekly agricultural journal published in Toronto, says:

"The farmer is not inherently antagonistic to the manufacturing interest. While the basic industry in Canada is agriculture, the one is largely the complement of the other. The farmer is dependent upon the manufacturer for a large share of the equipment necessary to successfully carry on his farming operation. On the other hand, the business of the manufacturer could make little progress without a prosperous farming community and increased production from the land."

"The relations between the farmer and the manufacturer, instead of being antagonistic, should be of the most friendly character. To bring about more friendly relations and greater co-operative effort there must be give and take on both sides."

Breathed Finner Muddle
Select a thick haddock, wipe. Brush fish over with soft butter, place on a well greased broiler (skin side up) until delicately brown, turn and brown flesh side. Remove to dripping pan, cover with boiling water, let stand on back of range over slow fire for 20 minutes. Drain from water, place on hot serving platter and spread generously with maitre d'hotel butter. Surround with stuffed baked potatoes.

Frosted Apples
Select six large, well shaped apples; remove the cores, and stew gently until the skins can be peeled off. Lift to a plate, and stuff the hollows left by the cores with chopped dates; dip clarified butter over the apples until all the surface is wet, coat with pounded sugar, and place in a slow oven until the sugar sparkles. This makes a particularly pretty dish.

BUY AN IRRIGATED FARM FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY BECAUSE:

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and in sure good crops, not occasionally, but every year.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures good returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the years that it has been tried having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record. For full particulars apply to

ALLAN CAMERON, Gen. Supt. of Lands
Canadian Pacific Railway, Dept. of Natural Resources, 928 1st St. E.
CALGARY, ALBERTA

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices up to $50 per acre, with 20 years to pay and the privilege of a loan of $2,000 for improvements (6% interest) no principle after first payment until end of fourth year, reduced interest if settlement conditions are complied and no water rental for first year. Contract can be paid off before maturity if desired.

CLASSIFYING LANDS

Some of Canada's Greatest Tragedies Could be Prevented

The opening up of non-agricultural lands to settlement has produced some of the most far-reaching and pitiful tragedies in the Dominion's history. Every province has communities which have been permitted to make the fatal error of a bad location. Their subsequent history is an unbroken line of had crops, poverty, suffering and human demoralization. Too poor to move away, the farmer and his family resign themselves to a pitiful standard of living, giving their time and efforts for practically no return. Every province and the Federal authorities have made such blunders in times past, nor is there satisfactory evidence that a general and complete reform has been brought about. Farmers still are allowed on Federal and Provincial "homesteads" which are impossible for field crops.

The policy was, of course, more the result of laxity in classification and not a deliberate effort to send settlers to useless lands. The laxness, however, is growing in public disfavor and the tendency of all governments now is to protect the settler and to conserve rocky, sandy areas for their natural purpose of growing trees. Several survey parties are at last bound to achieve higher importance in the eyes of governments. On party, composed of Messrs. F. C. Nunnick of the Commission of Enquiry and Walter Graham of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, went to New Brunswick, co-operating with the provincial government in a scheme of land classification.

FRESH AIR EVERYWHERE

Pure, Sweet Supply Pays Even in Factories

One of the chief essentials to good health is a constant supply of pure and wholesome air. This is as necessary in the home as in the office or factory. The open window, the outside sleeping balcony and living in the open air, all tend to strengthen the constitution and build up the nervous system. For this reason too much attention cannot be paid to the ventilation of buildings. A supply of pure, fresh air pays, from a monetary standpoint. Roughly speaking, an increase in production of ten per cent is not unusual in the average office shop or warehouse, following the installation of a ventilating system. Fresh air, therefore, properly circulated, is an essential factor even in successful factory management.

Fixing Cycle Tires
An English cycling expert says: I have often mentioned the wonderful ignorance the average cyclist shows in regard to puncture repairing. The other day I saw a youngster in trouble with a tube which had chafed through near the valve sealing, owing, apparently, to a valve tab being of rubbered canvas instead of rubber, and so holding up the elasticity of the tire at this important point. To properly repair the tire the valve plate wanted removing, but my roadside friend seemed fearfully afraid of unscrewing the lock-nut on the plate. At last I persuaded him to let me do it, carefully lifted the valve tab, and then patch the sore place. We took ten minutes to execute a job over which he admitted spending more than an hour. It was a case where want of a little knowledge was a dangerous waste of time.

Garrulous Member
A good story is told of a certain M.P. well known for his verbosity, who rose to address the Imperial House. "I will divide my speech under twelve heads," he commenced, to the discomfiture of his audience. Another witty member, however, came to the rescue by begging to be allowed to interpose with a little anecdote. "A friend of mine was returning home late one night," he said, "when opposite St. Paul's he saw an intoxicated man trying to ascertain the time on the big clock there. Just then it began to strike and slowly tolled out twelve. The man listened, looked hard at the clock, and said, 'Confound you! why couldn't you have said that all at once?'" The over-sloquent one heartily joined in the laughter which followed, and took the hint.

OLDS SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE Education Pays on the Farm

Statistics show that farmers who have had an education make larger incomes than those who have received but little schooling.

An education is more necessary now than it was thirty years ago. Farming has changed greatly in this period. Then, farmers cut their grain with a cradle, bound it by hand and threshed it with a flail. They ground their grain between stones and lifted the water out of the well in buckets. They treated their nondescript cattle for "hallow horn" and "wolf in the tail" and planted their grain "in the moon." The horse and the ox were their only means of transportation. The farm houses had no conveniences; houses were lit with candles; the kitchen equipment consisted largely of hard work.

Now, the farmers have larger farms. They cut and bind their grain and thresh with engine driven separators. They frequently plow with tractors and many own automobiles. They select varieties of grain that are known to give larger returns than the ordinary varieties. They treat their seed to control diseases and plants at rates per acre, which experiments have shown to give maximum yields. They select improved types of breeding animals and feed their stock in accordance with knowledge derived from the chemistry of foods. The farm houses have been greatly improved.

To keep up with the times and to make the most money from the farm one should know how to farm with the most improved methods. You can learn these methods at the Olds School of Agriculture. Education pays; you can learn in a few months what it would take years of experience to give you. Talk with any ex-student regarding the value of the course.

Classes in Agriculture and Domestic Science commence on October 29th. For particulars write: F. S. GRIDDALE, Principal, Olds School of Agriculture, Olds, Alberta.

Minimum Price For The 1919 Wheat

This season's wheat crop of Canada will be sold through a Board, called the Canadian Wheat Board. This Board, which has been appointed by the Dominion Government, has been instructed to buy all the wheat in the terminal markets and resell it both in Canada and abroad. An advance is to be made to the farmer of the following minimum prices for his wheat on delivery. These prices are based on prices of grain in store in Fort William or Port Arthur, and the difference between these and any higher prices that may subsequently be obtained will be remitted to the farmer when the wheat is sold as explained below.

Sellers of grain will receive a "participation certificate" showing number of bushels of wheat sold. This certificate will be registered with the Wheat Board by the grain firm issuing it and after registration they will deliver it to the original shipper of the grain. This certificate will then entitle the holder to whatever surplus the Wheat Board distributes, in accordance with the number of bushels shown.

Fair Average Crop For Alberta

Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, has just returned to the East after making a tour of the West. Before leaving Montreal Sir Frederick had heard some alarmist reports regarding crop conditions in the Prairie Provinces, but he was entirely disillusioned when he came out here. He gave an interview on his return to Montreal and among other things, discussed the crop outlook in Western Canada about which he said:

"As regards the crops, one reads and hears of partial failure, but if a wheat-hungry European could suddenly arrive by aeroplane in our western heavens and cover by flight the three provinces, his mouth would surely water at the sight that would meet his eyes. There are bare patches, it is true, but one cannot pass through hundreds of miles within the great triangle bounded by Winnipeg, Edmonton and Lethbridge where wheat, like gold, lies piled in countless heaps as far as the eye can stretch, and talk crop failure.

"As to quantity, I will leave it to my friends possessed of more data or more courage than I, to estimate the yield in bushels. It will suffice for me to say that there is no widespread dejection in the West over the crop result, and that though there might well have been a more uniform yield, a crop of wheat is assured worth say, 350 millions of dollars in current coin of the realm, something to be thankful for in these times, and the best tangible evidence of our Western resources if not, indeed, the pivot of Canada's solvency.

"Notwithstanding disquieting reports that subsequently became alarming regarding the livestock situation current in the east, on approaching the ranching country the cattlemen were found in a complacent frame of mind, and at the moment, from a commercial point of view, are less concerned over the livestock situation than that the great stamped should be a success.

Trade With The Eskimo

Opportunity For Profitable Trading Around The Shores Of Hudson Bay

Manitobans must awake to the opportunity that will soon present itself for profitable trading around the shores of Hudson Bay. Our American cousins are showing the way, though they are less conveniently situated for this commerce than ourselves. The American-Arctic Corporation, of New York, has bought the ex-yacht Finback, a remarkably fast, able, ketch-rigged craft, admirably fitted to navigate these northern waters, and has given command to Captain George Comer, an experienced whaling captain of New Bedford, Mass.

Her mission will be "to visit the Hudson Bay region, to barter with Eskimos, and to serve as a base from which the company plans to tap the fur resources and mineral deposits of the far north, in a more thorough way than has heretofore been possible." Scores of picture-reels covering American life and methods, street scenes and manufacturing plants, are to be shown to create a craving for American products and an interest in American life.

While one is forced to admire the enterprising spirit of these New Yorkers, it is surely not unfriendly to point out that Hudson Bay should be our own private preserve, though if we do not avail ourselves of the time and opportunity, of course, the trade of that region will pass to American hands. Fur, fisheries and minerals await the trader who shall go after them, and by making Nelson the base port Manitoba merchants would have a convenient striking point. The season of 1920 will see the "Finback" in the bay; let us hope she will often exchange signals with vessels bent on a like mission, but flying the red ensign with the Canadian arms in the fly.—Winnipeg Free Press.

The matter was adjourned for further consideration.

The Brave Pigeons Of The War

Old War-Worn Birds Have Been Pensioned Off By Government

Feathered "veterans" of H.M. Pigeon Services are being "demobilized," and it has been decided to present them to discharged soldiers. Practically all the pigeons used by the army, navy and air force during the war, numbering 80,000, were presented gratuitously by breeders, in return for which the latter were given free supplies of grain to assist in rearing fresh "recruits."

In a few cases old war-worn birds have been pensioned off by the Government, and are now living in peace and plenty. One of these is the pigeon which was shot through the eye while delivering a message. It recovered from the wound, and is now at Westgate, "on light duty." "The number of lives saved by pigeons during the war will never be known," said an officer, "for, in addition to the many pilots and observers who have been rescued from wrecked machines, as a result of messages faithfully delivered, the birds have been used to establish communication with troops who were surrounded by the enemy by dropping the birds from airplanes in baskets attached to parachutes."

Recalling Genghiz Kahn

Soldiers of Hazarus Interesting as Any, Though Small in Number

If someone were to declare that he knew by name each element that went to make up the forces of the allies during the war, would he include in the list the soldiers of the Hazarus? If not, he would do scant justice to a people as interesting as any, though relatively small in number. It seems that Lord Kitchener began to enlist them in the army of India some years before the war began; and since they dwell in Afghanistan and not in India, they had to steal secretly across the border in order to enter British service. As to their history, they may claim a truly remarkable prestige, for, as is pointed out in accounts of them recently published, they have occupied their present homes ever since their Tartar leader, Genghiz Khan, brought them there during the great movement which ultimately established his Mongol Empire, not long after another conqueror, William of Normandy, set himself on the English throne. They were, later subdued with difficulty by the Amers, and have since remained their subjects. As soldiers they performed good service with the British expeditionary force in Mesopotamia.

Favor Holland as Place of Residence

Amersfoort.—Former Princess Cecilie of Germany, with her two sons, has left for Amersfoort, Holland, on her way back to Germany. She travelled on an ordinary train. The possibility of the entire former royal family of Germany making their home in Holland was discussed at conferences taken part in by Cecilie and the former emperor and empress at the Von Bentinck castle during her visit here, it is understood. Nothing definite, however, was decided upon.

Russians Ask Help From Japan

London, England.—A Moscow wireless message states that Admiral Kotchak has officially applied to Japan for help, offering as compensation the Russian portion of Sakhalin and the region of the river Ussuri, which is considered the wealthiest portion of the Russian Far Eastern territories.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. I relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years' experience is at your service.

PAINFUL RHEUMATISM

May Be Driven Out of the System By Enriching the Blood

In the days of our fathers and grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. Medical science did not understand the trouble, did not know that it was rooted in the blood. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble. In those days there were thousands of rheumatic cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich, red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism, can be cured by killing the poison in the blood which causes it. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood making, blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, palpitant, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against the further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured thousands of people—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Bomb Thrown at Egypt's Premier

Must Stand Trial

Wm. Hohenzollern Must Answer For Supreme Offence Against International Morality

Paris.—Premier Lloyd George is determined to have it settled that the peace conference demand from Holland the handing over of former Emperor William, according to Le Journal. The newspaper asserts that the Premier will insist on having such action decided upon.

The peace treaty with Germany arraigns William Hohenzollern, the former German emperor, "for a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties," and provides for a special tribunal to try him. The clause of the treaty dealing with this question closes with this sentence, "the allied and associated powers will address a request to the government of The Netherlands for the surrender to them of the ex-emperor in order that he may be put on trial."

Canada To Have Air Squadron

Government Has Accepted Offer of British Planes

Calgary.—Canada is to have a thoroughly organized air squadron as part of its military equipment in the future, including 116 of the best airplanes, which have been presented to the Dominion of Canada by the British Government.

This positive announcement was made here by Brig-Gen. O. M. Biggar, judge advocate-general of Canada, and a member of the Canadian Air Board, who is aboard the special train of the Prince of Wales. Gen. Biggar took the place of Sir Joseph Pope on the train as the special representative of Western Canada.

"There has been some misapprehension regarding the offer of airplanes from the British Government to Canada," said Brig-Gen. Biggar, "and I believe some announcement on the subject will be made shortly in parliament."

"The Canadian Government has accepted the offer of the British Government of 100 of their best airplanes with all equipment which goes with the machines. In addition to this gift of 100 machines, there will be 16 other replacements of airplanes presented from Canadian sources and organizations during the war to the British Air Ministry."

"These machines will be equipment for an air squadron which will be organized, and the Canadian Government will thus have one of the best air organizations as a part of its military equipment. When the machines are turned over to us they will be in perfect shape with new parts wherever required, and they will be of the very best in the possession of the British Government."

Strange Coinage

Wooden Money Is As Good As Gold In North Country

Whoever heard of wooden money? The only known currency of this kind is issued by the Hudson Bay Company, and circulates all over the vast territory controlled by that powerful trading concern, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It is a coinage consisting of pieces of wood known as "castors," which are stamped with a die. These are accepted everywhere in that territory as cash, and are exchangeable for all sorts of supplies and commodities at the widely scattered stations of the corporation.

The area governed by the company is vast. In one straight line it extends as far as from London to Mexico; from King's Posts to the Pelly Banks is further than from Paris to Sarum. Over all of this region the corporation exercises a complete dominion, employing the native Indians, chiefly Ojibways and Crees, to collect the furs which furnish its revenue.

Hudson Bay is about two-thirds the size of the Gulf of Mexico. It is an almost landlocked sea, with 3,000 miles of coast line. More than 300 years ago Hendrick Hudson wintered there. His crew unfriended and set him adrift in an open boat with his son and seven others. He and his companions were never seen again.

The unit of value in that part of the world is a beaver skin. Two martens are equal to one beaver, and twenty muskrats are equivalent to one marten. The trapping is done in winter, and in spring the Indians bring the pelts to the stations, receiving in payment for them wooden money. With the latter they buy what supplies they need at the store maintained by the company at the station.

Queen Defends Nation's Rights

Wilhelmina of Holland in Accord With Dutch People

The Hague.—In a speech from the throne opening parliament, Queen Wilhelmina referred to the dispute between Holland and Belgium regarding revision of the treaty of 1839. The Queen declared she had been called emphatically to defend the nation's rights, interests and integrity, and that she was in entire accord with the Dutch people concerning the question at issue. The provinces of Limburg, Zealand and Flanders, she declared, had displayed great fidelity and devotion to the national unity.

Regarding the League of Nations, the Queen stated that adherence by Holland was subject to the approval by parliament after the formation of the league. As to the question of national defence, it could not be solved until something definite was learned concerning the international settlement contemplated by the League of Nations.

Ignorance is bliss until it begins to associate with egotism.

Prohibition Helps Boston To Save

Save About $100,000 This Year In Cost of House of Correction

Boston.—Boston will save about $100,000 this year in the cost of the House of Correction on Deer Island, as a result of prohibition, it is announced. Already $25,000 of the appropriation granted for the institution this year has been turned back.

Since July 1 the population of the institution has declined rapidly. In 1915, the number of inmates was about 1,100. There are now only 300. One of the prison buildings will be abandoned this winter, and this step will mean a large saving in coal. Although employees have generally received increases in pay since 1915, it is estimated that the cost of Deer Island this year will be only $202,403.36, as against $305,679.78 in 1915.

Britain's Wheat Purchase

Relieved Financial Strain on Australian Wheat Board

Sydney, New South Wales.—Britain's purchase of 1,000,000 tons of Australian wheat at 5s 6d a bushel f.o.b. has greatly relieved the financial strain on the Australian Wheat Board. Wheat growers are hoping that the British Government will exercise its option to purchase another 500,000 tons before the end of the year. This huge sale to the Imperial Government will not prejudice Australia's markets in South Africa, New Zealand and the west coast of South America, as provision is made in the contract for the retention of these markets. The options held by Britain are subject to review in the event of the new wheat season in Australia not yielding a sufficient surplus to supply adjacent markets. Probably Britain will consent to take a portion of the wheat in the form of flour, thus giving employment to Australian workmen and Australian mills.

An auxiliary gasoline tank with a capacity of 30 gallons will be carried.

Completing Pulp Mills

In Two Months Operation Will Probably Be Inaugurated

Victoria, B.C.—The large pulp mills which are being erected at Beaver Cove, up the coast, are fast nearing completion. In two months operation will probably be inaugurated with a product of fifty tons of paper a day. A large number of returned soldiers have been given employment at the plant. A railway for hauling the timber will be constructed and work has been started on the town-site. Manager White expects that the new industrial centre will have a population within three years and in time emulate such paper towns as Swanson Bay, Ocean Falls and Powell River. There is a steady market for paper on the Pacific, the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Japan being regular buyers.

Thanksgiving Day Oct. 13

Ottawa.—Mr. Pedlow asked in the House if it was correct that the Government had fixed October 13 as Thanksgiving Day, and if so, it was to be interpreted as an announcement of Government opposition to his bill to make Armistice Day, the second day in November, a permanent thanksgiving day.

Hon. Mr. Doherty replied that Thanksgiving Day had been fixed for Monday, October 13, but it did not necessarily follow that Thanksgiving Day would be on the same date next year. Future policy would have to be decided later.

Bring Ocean Liners Nearer To West

Ottawa.—Western Canada is vitally interested in a scheme whose feasibility is shortly to be submitted for investigation before the International Joint Commission.

The governments of the United States and Canada are acting jointly in the submission to the commission of an inquiry into the "deepening of the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and Lake Ontario to enable ocean-going vessels to proceed to the head of the lakes, and also to enquire into the joint development by the two countries of the three million potential horse-power.

If the plan, which is enthusiastically backed in the States, carries, it will be possible for ocean-going vessels to go inward by the new Welland canal route 2,100 miles from the gulf. It will cheapen and facilitate the handling of the western crops by reducing freight rates compared with the cost of railway transport, and would also enable freight to be taken far inward to the west by water. The half million bushel carriers now stopping at Port Colborne could go to Montreal.

W. J. Stewart, Dominion hydrographer, has been delegated by the Canadian Government to act in conjunction with Colonel Kellar, of the United States War Department, in determining the terms of reference to the commission.

Sir Oliver Lodge on Atomic Properties

Hopes We Will Not Know Their Power Yet

Birmingham, Eng.—Sir Oliver Lodge, the eminent scientist, in an address at Midland institute in connection with the memorial ceremonies held on the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of the death of James Watt, inventor of the steam engine again touched upon the subject of atomic properties of matter.

Sir Oliver declared that the first utilization of atomic properties of matter was in wireless telephony. He added that if the atomic energy of an ounce of matter could be utilized it would be sufficient to raise the German ships sunk in the Scapa Flow. He said, however, that he hoped the human race would not discover how to use this energy until it had brains and morality enough to use it properly because if the discovery were made before its time, and by the wrong people, this planet would be unsafe.

New London, Conn.—A radio experiment made off New London, in Long Island Sound by the experimental station, naval section, established communication, both telephone and telegraph, between a hydroplane flying nearly 2,000 feet in the air and a submerged submarine several fathoms in the water.

Would Free Land From All Tyranny

London.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking before the International Brotherhood Congress, as was expected, did not touch upon many of the important questions in which the nation is deeply concerned.

The Premier was given an enthusiastic reception, and began by saying that a political platform was not involved at the meeting. "If I made a political announcement," he added, "I should feel that I was outraging the hospitality of the brotherhood."

He expressed the hope that all armaments would disappear and that the long drawn misunderstandings between Ireland and the rest of the kingdom would also pass.

"I am looking forward," he continued, "to seeing waste in all forms disappear and a new Britain springing up—a really free land, free from poverty, from the tyranny of mankind over mankind. Some people seem to think that I have accepted

German Troops For Baltic Front

All Warnings of Allies Are Disregarded in Monarchic Designs, Vorwaerts Asserts

Berlin.—The assertion is made by the Vorwaerts correspondent that the German militia in the Baltic provinces is rapidly growing and that officers and men are arriving there daily from Germany. Even the smallest places in Courland are strongly occupied.

Posters displayed in the office of Staff Captain Stoewer, at Bausk, Courland says the correspondent, read:

"Fight for the kaiser and the empire against democracy. We had rather die than be dishonored."

"Pretense is being made of the disbandment of a few units," the correspondent adds, "but troops are being transferred to Admiral Kolchak's army."

School Lands For Soldiers

Manitoba Lays Six Million Acres of Unimproved Lands Before Men

Winnipeg.—By an order-in-council passed, Acting Premier Hon. Edward Brown and the provincial cabinet placed six millions of acres of unimproved farm lands on the market for returned soldiers. This is the greatest move made by the government up to the present time for the re-establishment of returned men.

The order-in-council provides for the establishment of an arbitration board to determine the price the province shall receive for its land. Geo. A. Metcalfe, administrator of succession duties for the provincial government, will act as arbitrator for the province of Manitoba. The federal government will also name a member of the arbitration board.

The land which has been thrown open is all unimproved, much of it suitable for farming. The land is known at the present time as provincial school lands. The value placed on it in the public accounts of 1918 is $13,000,000.

Fiume Isolated By Italy

Investigation Has Shown That Plan Originated in Venice

London.—Fiume has been isolated from the world by the Italian government, which is apparently taking steps to meet the situation that has arisen through the action of Captain d'Annunzio in forcibly taking possession of the city and in forcing allied and Jugo-Slav forces to leave. The veil of the censorship has been drawn, and since that time little has been learned of events in the city.

Investigation of the incident has shown, according to advices, that the plan to seize Fiume originated in Venice, the prefect of which city is said to have been involved.

Copenhagen's Fortifications

Copenhagen, Denmark.—The Politiken learns that Mr. Petermich, the Minister of Defense, has submitted a proposal for the immediate demolition of the greater part of the fortifications of Copenhagen. This means that the whole of the land and a large part of the coast fortifications would be razed.

Summary Of The Bulgarian Treaty Next

Pact to Follow the Same General Plan as the Austrian Treaty

Washington.—Summary of the Bulgarian treaty of peace, cabled to the State Department by the American mission at Paris, shows the pact to follow the same general plan as the Austrian treaty.

"Many clauses are identical with the Austrian treaty," says the summary, "except for the substitution of names, such as the League of Nations, labor, aerial navigation penalties, prisoners of war and graves."

"Regarding the changes in the Bulgarian frontier, the important changes are to the south, where Bulgaria cedes Western Thrace to the principal allied and associated powers, and agrees to accept whatever disposition of this territory the powers ultimately decide upon, but it is stipulated that in any event Bulgaria's western frontier shall be modified slightly in four places to Serbia's advantage."

The Bulgarians are required to recognize the independence of the Serb, Croat and Slovene states and provisions are made to change the nationality of the inhabitants of the territory formerly Bulgarian and transferred to other states."

To Have Religion Taught In School

Ontario Provincial Synod Urges That Biblical Instruction Be Introduced

Ottawa.—Religious instruction in public schools, profiteering and questions relating to school welfare were discussed at a session of the Ontario Provincial Synod in Laurier Hall. In the matter of religious instruction the delegates recommended that:

Bolsheviki Sympathisers

Union Dockmen Refused to Load Arms Destined for Siberia

Seattle, Wash.—Business agents of the local longshoremen's union backed, it was said, by approval of the Central Labor Council, refused to allow longshoremen to load a shipment of arms and munitions destined for Siberia on the shipping board's steamer Delight.

The labor agents held that the handling of such material was in violation of labor's pact embraced in the peace treaty. A heavy fine and suspension for two months was the penalty threatened men violating the order of the business agents. Frank Waterhouse & Co., operators of the vessel, said the shipment would be loaded.

Austria Will Recover Soon

Vienna.—During the course of a conference with representatives of the provincial governments, the Austrian Minister of Finance, Josef Schumpeter, told them he hoped that within three or four years the equilibrium of the budget would be restored, without bankruptcy, conversion of loans or additional taxation. Chancellor Renner's "eyes to the west" remark has caused such widespread challenge that he has been impelled to explain that he did not mean that Austria should turn to France to the exclusion of Germany, but that Austria's hope lay westward rather than to the Slavic countries.

Municipal Milk Scheme

Winnipeg.—Ratepayers of Winnipeg will be asked to vote on a by-law authorizing the expenditure of $600,000 on a municipal milk scheme at the civic elections on November 28.

This sum, according to R. D. Hughes, the Toronto expert, is enough to establish and operate a fully modern milk and milk product distribution plant. He also recommends the city securing a monopoly by buying out the two large existing companies.

Thanks to General Pershing

Washington.—Congress, on behalf of the nation, extended to General John J. Pershing as commander, and through him to his officers and enlisted men of the American expeditionary force, formal expression of the country's gratitude for their "unswerving duty and valor throughout the war." Business in both houses was suspended for the time so that all members might speak.

Will Bring Down The High Prices

Judge Robson States That Price Probe Will Cover All Necessities

Winnipeg.—Judge H. A. Robson, chairman of the board of commerce, declares that drastic action cutting down the cost of necessities will be taken by the board of commerce just as soon as the evidence at the different probes has been taken.

No advance on necessities will be tolerated, he said, and the board aims to prohibit the sale of all fancy bacons. The retailer who takes a profit in excess of one cent per pound on any sale of sugar is liable to prosecution. This applies to Winnipeg dealers and is not limited to the East, Mr. Robson emphasized.

Regulations covering all packing plants and including such products as butter, eggs, cured meats and cold storage products in general will be drafted shortly. The order will be very definite, Mr. Robson said.

The board will deal with all necessities of life, including boots and clothing, Mr. Robson said. Prosecution will be made in every case where there is violation of the set profit by dealers. The board itself may impose the fines or institute criminal proceedings against the guilty parties.

Mr. Robson was not ready to give an outline of the provisions to be made for checking up on violations of the board's orders, but declared that every complaint brought to the board would be fully investigated and dealt with immediately and to the full extent of the law.

Cost of living probes are about to be instituted in Calgary, Edmonton and Regina, Mr. Robson said. He has just wired the appointment of men to take charge of these probes. Major Duncan Stewart will conduct the hearing in Calgary. S. W. Field in Edmonton, and James S. Rankin in Regina.

Irish Daily Newspaper Is Suppressed

Cork Examiner Accepted Announcement for Prospects of Irish Loan

Dublin.—The determination of the authorities to repress "all manifestations of republican activities" is shown by the suppression of the Cork Examiner, one of Ireland's chief daily newspapers.

Although it is a constitutionalist organ and opposed to the Sinn Féin, the Examiner printed a page prospectus of the republican loan, assuming it is declared, that the prohibition of references thereto, which existed under the censorship, lapsed with the withdrawal of the censorship. The military authorities, however, retain full powers, and raided the premises and removed part of the plant.

The same advertisement was offered to the Dublin dailies, which refused the risk.

Ten Regiments To Defend Fiume

Italian Nationalists, Although Suppressed, Are Still Aiding in Movement

Rome.—D'Annunzio's force, according to the Idea Nazionale, consists of ten regiments, in addition to four battalions of Fiume volunteers. He has occupied a fortified line around Fiume as a strategic position. The citizens are supporting d'Annunzio, the newspaper adds, and are determined to destroy the town should resistance prove impossible. The Nationalists are organizing demonstrations throughout Italy in favor of d'Annunzio. The government, however, is energetically repressing these.

Riga Peace Meeting

Copenhagen.—An important conference has been in session at Riga regarding not only peace with the Soviet government in Russia, but the formation of a Baltic federation, according to advices from Lettish sources. There has been no actual acceptance of the Soviet government's terms, but, on the whole, it appears that the Baltic federation has materialized to the extent that an agreement has been reached for a customs union of Letovia and Lithuania.

Wheat Crop in Alberta

Edmonton, Alberta.—W. F. Stevens, representing the Alberta government in the Grande Prairie and Peace River districts, estimates the wheat crop there to be about 8,000,000 bushels. A party of 63 members of the Edmonton Board of Trade, is now touring the districts. A marked change is noted in the policy of the settlers, there being evidences of increasing mixed farming operations.

Would Popularize Reindeer Meat

Stefansson Says Canada Has Finest Climate in the World

Calgary.—"The finest climate in the world is the climate that is conducive to work, not idleness. I hear people praise the southern climes to the disparagement of our vigorous climate. We should never apologize for Canada's climate," said Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer, addressing an audience here.

Mr. Stefansson solicited support for his campaign to popularize reindeer raising, telling some amazing facts concerning this industry in the far north, and of the possibilities of the country, saying the northern zone had a great era of civilization before it. Reindeer was produced cheaper than any meat in the world, and brought a higher price today on the market than beef.

Robbery On Mail Train

Masked Men Robbed C.N.R. Express Passing Through Quebec

Quebec.—Five masked men bound and gagged the mail clerks on the Ocean Limited, Canadian National Railway, near Harlaka, and robbed the mail car of $75,000 in silver, which had been shipped from Montreal for Halifax.

The Ocean Limited does not stop after she leaves Lévis until Harlaka is reached. At Harlaka the train had barely pulled out, according to the mail clerk foreman, when the back door of the mail door was crashed in and the five masked men, pointing automatics into the faces of the mail crew, shouted the dramatic and business-like "Hands up." The bandits quickly bound and gagged the clerks, then made a dash to the bags containing the money. At St. Thomas the bandits escaped as the train slowed down. It is believed that they had an automobile hidden in the bushes. It is thought that they made for the United States border, and were expected to attempt to enter Maine.

Allies' Demand Agreed To

Austrians Cannot Participate in German Parliament or Government Affairs

Paris.—The written declaration concerning Article 61 of the German constitution demanded by the Allies is reported in a Berlin dispatch to have been signed by the German government. The declaration requested was that the article in question, relating to Austrian representation in the German parliament, was not to be considered as transcending the action of the peace treaty forbidding German participation in Austrian affairs.

Praise for the Navy

Washington.—In the course of his speech, in acknowledging the honor conferred by Congress, General Pershing referred to the "brilliant part" performed by the navy in transporting troops and supplies and in maintaining sea communications. "The army was conveyed overseas with the maximum of safety and comfort, and with incredibly small loss. In this arduous service the general assistance of the seamen of Great Britain deserves our lasting appreciation," he said.

Marshal Foch Lost Only Son

Food Prices Drop In United States

Million Pounds Of Bacon In Storage

W. F. O'Connor Anxious to Know If Price Cannot Be Lowered

Toronto.—W. F. O'Connor, K.C., vice-chairman of the Board of Commerce, proposes that Canadian consumers of bacon shall have an opportunity to get in some of the bacon sides which have been exported to the old country and sold at comparatively low prices. He intimated, after E. C. Fox, general manager of the William Davies company, and J. A. Nelson, superintendent of the Davies' retail stores in Toronto, have given evidence, that a million pounds of this commodity is at present locked up in the Davies plant, awaiting a day on which the English consumer has used up the supply of Wiltshire sides he has on hand, would be corralled for home consumption.

To Mr. Fox's explanation that this was inferior bacon to that sold in Canada, and was sold at less cost in consequence, Mr. O'Connor wanted to know if it were not possible to sell the cheaper bacon in Canada. "We have come to the stage," he declared, "where the other bacon is too expensive."

Mr. Fox said the Canadians would not buy the cheaper bacon that was sent to England. "It may be worth while to test with this million pounds to see if you have difficulty in disposing of it," retorted Mr. O'Connor.

"Certainly, we would be glad to try it," he added.

The commissioner told Mr. Fox that the Canadian consumer was not getting a square deal when his bacon cuts were regulated by European famine prices. "Personally," he said, "I think it would be a good thing in Canada for those in control to say to the producers of bacon, 'You have got to supply your Canadian trade at fair prices before we allow you to forfeit that stuff out of the country.'"

Mr. Fox repeatedly denied that the William Davies company was interested in any packers' combine. "Then why is it," asked Lieut.-Col. Price, counsel for the board in the enquiry, "that the prices remain about the same for one week in the stockyards?"

"I suppose because we all know about what the other fellow is doing and we all have the same selling margin," was Mr. Fox's reply.

Mr. Fox promised to produce a chart giving detailed information as to costs, selling prices and profits.

Superintendent Nelson, of the Davies company, said his efforts were directed toward keeping prices down and getting the volume of business. The higher the selling price of any commodity, the less his concern could make out of it, he said.

At the conclusion of Mr. Nelson's testimony, Commissioner O'Connor said:

"You have undertaken to say that you are not making any profit. We will find out what the profit is before we are done here."

Less Likelihood of a Railway Strike Among Shopmen

Toronto.—There is little likelihood of labor trouble among the railroad shopmen on the Canadian railroads, according to J. Clarke, schedule representative of Canadian railroads for the International Union of Boilermakers, the headquarters of which are in Kansas City.

Mr. Clarke is in Toronto at present to allay unrest among railroad shopmen, who are uneasy because of the delay in dealing with their grievances, which came before the Canadian Railway Board in May and were deferred until the demands of the United States railway workers were satisfactorily settled.

The man who spends six nights out of the week away from home blames his wife because she don't raise the boys right.

Washington.—Reports to the Department of Justice from thirteen states indicate that there has been a decline of 10 to 15 per cent in food prices since the time the fair price committees began their work. From four states have come reports on wholesale prices indicating a decline of from two to five per cent.

Virtually no reductions in clothing prices have been noted. The reports on retail food prices were said to have been from cities and counties well distributed throughout the country and the information is believed by officials here to be a fair indication of what is going on everywhere. They think that results now becoming evident will be cumulative as the season advances, new declines in wholesale prices being reflected in retail prices, and additional reductions coming from the campaign against hoarding and profiteering.

Stamping Out Profiteers

British Government Classes Profiteers With Rats and Other Vermin

London.—Charles McCurdy, parliamentary secretary to the Food Minister, declared that the government classes profiteers with rats and other vermin, and is determined to stamp them out. Mr. McCurdy was speaking at the opening day of the administration of the new Profiteering Act and alluded to the new Canadian statute dealing with a similar evil.

Criticism against the English act is mainly on the ground that it will never touch the big profiteer, but merely render the small trader liable to espionage and persecution. Meanwhile, street markets are increasingly instituted in the crowded streets. Their establishment is frequently followed by a drop in prices at the neighboring shops.

The lack of housing accommodation is certainly as vital a problem as profiteering.

Death of W. C. Gurney

Toronto.—W. C. Gurney, president and general manager of the Gurney Foundry Company, Limited, died from heart failure while in the office of his physician. He was a son of the late Edward Gurney, founder of the Gurney Foundry Company, whom he succeeded in the presidency of the company, and was in his 46th year.

British Profiteers Scored

London.—The profiteering act, despite its defects, seems to have had a rapid frightening effect, for prices have already dropped in several districts.

Some local bodies refused to appoint commissions to administer the act locally, but the refusal is generally followed by indignant protests from the inhabitants.

Soldiers Are Homeless

London.—Houseless ex-soldiers at Newport, Monmouthshire, interrupted the borough council meeting, protesting from the gallery. There were, they claimed, 600 homeless families in the town. Liverpool corporation is spending £22,000 in converting army huts into private dwellings. Other local authorities are also attracted by this temporary solution.

Miss Dickson met with a most painful accident on Thursday last while driving a binder on her father's farm near Standard.
